

Lecture: Friday, February 19, 1965, 8:15 P.M.

"Hasanlu and Early Iran"

P.D 2.14
Press 2.13
SP 2.11
M. 2.1

NAME: Robert Harris Dyson, Jr.

ADDRESS: University Museum, Philadelphia 4, Pa.

PLACE OF BIRTH: York, Pa.

EDUCATION: A.B. magna cum laude, Harvard College 1950

Junior Fellow, Society of Fellows, Harvard University 1951-1954

CAREER HISTORY: Assistant Curator, Near Eastern Section, University Museum 1954-61

Associate Curator and Associate Professor of Anthropology 1962

Director of the Hasanlu Project of the Univ. Museum and Metropolitan Museum of Art 1956-64; Director Tikal Project Guatemala, Univ. Museum 1961-62

TRAVEL: Worldwide - especially the Near East: Iraq, Iran, Jordan, Egypt, Turkey
Pakistan and India; Cambodia, Thailand, Japan, Southwest Africa, Angola, etc.
Guatemala

PUBLICATIONS: articles in various magazines and periodicals on the archaeology of the Near East

OTHER BIOGRAPHICAL FACTS: Single

EXACT TITLE OF LECTURE: Hasanlu and Early Iran

AIM AND SCOPE OF LECTURE: Presentation of some of the recent results of excavations in northwestern Iran and their relationship to the problems of archaeology and history in that area between 1000 and 800 B.C.